Brand Identity Guide

Logo

---

The primary logo is a wordmark in Fredoka Medium with a yellow smiley face functioning as the period punctuation mark. This small detail carries the brand's personality without overcomplicating the mark. The Korean text below reads Seoul in Malgun Gothic.

PRIMARY MARK

ON DARK BACKGROUND

The logo should always maintain clear space around it. Never stretch, rotate, recolor, or place the logo on a busy background that reduces legibility.

Secondary Marks

The brand system includes two secondary logo marks: the bungeo-ppang (Korean fish-shaped pastry) and the steaming bowl. These appear on packaging, merch, and supporting materials. They carry the cultural and food-specific personality of the brand and should always be used alongside, never replacing, the primary wordmark.

Color Palette

The brand palette is built around two primary colors carried over from the original logo. Bright Yellow is the dominant brand color and the most recognizable visual element across all touchpoints. Pure Black provides contrast and grounds the identity. Warm White is used as a background tone for print and packaging applications.

Yellow should always appear in its exact value (#FFE500). Do not substitute it with gold, orange-yellow, or any other warm tone. Black and white provide the foundation for all text and layout.

COLOR IN USE

Typography

---

Two typefaces make up the Seoul identity. Fredoka Medium is used for all primary English wordmark and headline applications. Its rounded, friendly letterforms reflect the warmth and approachability of the brand. Malgun Gothic is used for all Korean text throughout the identity. It is clean, highly legible, and pairs neutrally with Fredoka's rounder style.

Seoul. Great Taste. Quick Service.

KOREAN TYPEFACE

MALGUN GOTHIC

Used for all Korean language text throughout the identity.

Note: Korean characters require Malgun Gothic to render correctly in final production files.

Never use decorative, serif, or script typefaces in brand applications. Fredoka Medium should be used at its natural weight. Do not bold or italicize the primary wordmark typeface.
